SO WHO TRAVELS WITH INSIGHT VACATIONS?

Insight tours are designed for real people. Whatever their lifestyle, wherever they call home, Insight guests share a desire for enriching, stylish, and pleasurable journeys.

Whether you are a novice or experienced globetrotter, enjoy group or individual travel, or prefer holidays of days or weeks, you will find yourself among like-minded people from all over the English-speaking world.

Insight travellers often have similar, discerning tastes so it's easy to make lifelong friends, sharing memories of your tour for years to come.

Insight guests often tell us their Tour Director really made their trip. But what makes an Insight Tour Director? It's a love of people, a passion for travel and an infectious enthusiasm for the places we visit. It's also a vast level of knowledge about European art, history, politics, traditions and culture; and years of experience escorting discerning guests throughout their specialist regions.

Your Tour Director acts as your 'Personal Concierge' throughout. They'll make you feel like an insider as they advise on places to visit and places to avoid, assist with a labyrinth of languages and currencies, provide informative commentary, organise border crossings and hotel check-ins and help you make the most of free time. It takes a very special kind of person to be a Tour Director; and only the finest work with Insight.

Insight Drivers have thousands of miles' experience on Europe's roads – something you'll appreciate as we join the Paris rush-hour or negotiate a high Alpine pass. They'll help you on and off the coach, organise baggage and each morning, ready the vehicle inside and out for another touring day.

In most major towns and cities, you'll enjoy the services of Specialist Local Guides. They're the best in their field and fully qualified of course but they'll also give you that special insider viewpoint on city life that only comes from living there.

New for 2011, Insight is including occasional informal talks with knowledgeable and captivating Guest Lecturers who will cover a range of specialist topics - from the culture and conflict of the Balkans to Sicilian mafia folklore and superstitions. Attendance is entirely at your discretion but one thing is sure, you will leave stimulated and satisfied!

A smaller group size means your Tour Director has more time for personal service.
